eatout critic's review

After 16 years in Parkview, Franco's has had a facelift and entered the new millennium. A new entrance doubles as an art gallery and someone's turned up the lighting. Still as wildly popular as ever thanks to the value-for-money classic Italian fare and pizzas from the wood-fired oven ? the del cuoco featuring a fried egg on top is the flagship. Lamb-filled cannelloni and tortellini stuffed with chicken showcase Franco's pasta prowess. Daily specials supplement a standard Italian trattoria menu of pasta, veal and osso bucco while the old-school waiters are still as obliging as ever. Booking is essential. Well-priced wine list or bring your own if it's special. (NP)
